

CALL FOR PAPERS

KogWis 2008

We are pleased to invite you to submit contributions to KogWis 2008, the 9th Biannual Meeting of the Gesellschaft für Kognitionswissenschaft (GK), to be held in Dresden, Germany

September 28 – October 1, 2008

www.kogwis08.de

Cognitive science pursues a scientific understanding of the mind through a multitude of methodologies, notably those of psychology, artificial intelligence, computer science, linguistics, logics, neuroscience, philosophy and ergonomics, in whatever combinations is most appropriate to the topic at hand.

The aim of this meeting of the GK will be to foster the exchange between the different interdisciplinary strands of cognitive science – from cognitive brain research to emerging applications of cognitive technologies in human-machine-systems.

PROGRAM COMMITTEE CHAIRS

Leon Urbas, Thomas Goschke, Boris M. Velichkovsky

Technische Universität Dresden

SUBMISSIONS

Submissions for talks, posters, doctoral consortium and symposia are welcome. Abstract submissions of original work as well as submissions based on previous publications will be reviewed by the program committee.

Abstract submission April 15, 2008.

Notification of acceptance June 1, 2008.

Doctoral Consortium

The KogWis 2008 Doctoral Consortium (September, 28th) will provide an opportunity for doctoral students to discuss their research interests, under the guidance of an interdisciplinary panel of distinguished research faculty.

BrainProducts Best Poster Awards

KogWis 2008 provides a Best Poster Award sponsored by BrainProducts to the authors who display and present their high-quality work most effectively. The winner of this award will be selected by the special Poster Track program committee.

GK Best Paper Award

The GK offers a Best Paper Award for the best publication of a junior scientist as first author. The submission procedure will be described in detail on the GK Webpage. The award winner will present his paper in a talk at KogWis08.
